SEC. ACHESON OUTLINES U. S. ASIAN POLICY

Washington, June 4—(AP)—Secretary of State Acheson said today the United States "did not know whether we had an atomic bomb or not" when it signed the 1945 Yalta agreement to bring Russia into the war against Japan.

Acheson made the statement in a general discussion of American policy in the Orient for the last five years. He was testifying for the third day at senate hearings on the dismissal of General Douglas MacArthur as Far Eastern Commander.

Acheson also said:
1. Former Vice President Henry A. Wallace won an agreement from Chiang Kai Shek, head of the Chinese Nationalists, in 1944, not to oppose American military help to the Chinese Communists.

2. The United States was not able to guarantee the survival of Chiang's government in the post-war revolution which swept China.

Republicans have attacked the Yalta agreements, contending they let Russia into Manchuria and gave her territory from which she now can threaten Japan.

These critics said that there was no reason to obtain a Russian agreement in order to enter the Far Eastern war, which was ended when two atomic bombs were dropped on Japan. The Russians came into the war only a week before Japan's surrender.

Acheson said it was not known at the time of Yalta whether the atomic bomb could be produced successfully.

The Yalta conference was a meeting of President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill of Britain and Russian Premier Stalin at a Russian town of that name.

They made high level decisions for future cooperation in the war. Testifying before the senate armed services and foreign relations committees, Acheson outlined American policies in the Far East since 1945.

This outline of policy was called for by Republican members of the committees investigating the ouster of Gen. Douglas MacArthur as Pacific commander.

A question raised repeatedly in the hearings is whether the United States should have given greater support to Generalissimo Chiang Kai Shek's Nationalist government in its struggle with the Chinese Communists.

Acheson said there was a "social revolution" in China. He told the senators they must realize "that American aid cannot in itself insure the survival of a recipient government or the survival of a people that this

Administration Opens New Drive to End the Deadlock In Senate Over Fine Tax Program

Harrisburg, June 4—(AP)—The administration opened a new drive today to end a senate deadlock on taxes.

The pressure was aimed principally at 11 Republican senators opposing Gov. Fine's proposal for a one-half of one per cent income tax.

Fine's legislative leaders were ready to cite a new general fund surplus of nearly $18,000,000 to underline the accuracy of estimates in the governor's projected $1,220,000,000 budget in the next two years.

The budget has been the object of attack by several of the 11 rebelling lawmakers whose action forced the administration to return the income tax bill to the senate finance committee last month rather than take a chance on its defeat in a floor vote.

In advance of the week's assembly session, the governor conferred for more than two hours last night with top legislative leaders on phases of the state's budget, principally, allocations of funds to various departments. A spokesman said the deadlocked income tax bill was not discussed.

GOP leaders of both branches, except Sen. John M. Walker, the senate Republican leader, attended the conference. Walker is one of the eleven Republican senators opposing the governor's proposed income tax.

As the lawmakers return to Harrisburg after a week's Memorial Day holiday recess, the 1951 session bids to be one of the longest in Pennsylvania history.

If the tax deadlock is not cleared up this week, it will mean that new efforts in that direction will be held up for an additional week. The legislature will be in recess next week because of a hotel room shortage created by a state convention of the Eastern Star.

That would likely mean July sessions. In 1941, the assembly adjourned July 15 — the latest date for 99 years.

The house also is up to its ears in another side-light of the income tax controversy. A bill up for floor action would exempt non-residents from local wage taxes.

PARADE SPECTATORS IN MINOR ACCIDENT

Two spectators watching the firemen's parade in Russell Saturday night suffered minor bruises when they were trampled by a horse.

According to reports, the horse was crowded by a motorist and became frightened.

Janice Michaels, 10, and Mrs. Kenneth Deemer, both of the Russell district, were treated by physicians. A small child, whose name was not learned, also was slightly hurt when Mrs. Deemer fell in attempting to avoid the horse.

Considerable Damage Reported in Area From Weekend Electric and Wind Storms

The weatherman dished up a potpourri for the weekend, with sunshine, humid temperatures, thunder and lightning and violent gusts of wind as the ingredients.

Gusts reached a 60-mile-per-hour velocity in some sections, uprooting trees, tearing down limbs, shredding awnings, damaging signboards and knocking loose power lines.

Hardest hit by the violent wind was a belt area between Corry and Sugar Grove, north of Warren. Hundreds of trees were uprooted, and orchards were heavily damaged.

Limbs of a tree knocked a big hole in the roof of a farm house near Sugar Grove, and numerous roads were blocked.

Sugar Grove firemen were called out at the height of last night's storm when lightning struck and set fire to the Forest church, six miles from that community. The firefighters succeeded in confining the blaze to the steeple. Lightning also struck a barn on the State Line road early Saturday morning, but firemen from Sugar Grove and Russell were able to save the structure.

Emergency crews from the Pennsylvania Electric Company were kept on the jump over the weekend and repairing knocked down wires. Several transformers also were knocked out by lightning, but there were no major power service interruptions in this area.

The river road between Warren and Kinzua was blocked for several hours by a big tree which fell across the highway. Another tree also toppled across the Cobham Park road, and had to be sawed in two before traffic was restored.

One of the large trees along Route 8 near the entrance to the Rouse Hospital at Youngville was badly damaged.

Warren firemen were called out at 2:15 a. m. Saturday when a tree fell on the home of Larry Brian, 23 North Carver street. The home,

Explosive Iranian Oil Crisis Shows No Sign of Abating

Tehran, Iran, June 4—(AP)—The billion-dollar Anglo-Iranian Oil Company has offered to send representatives to Tehran for "full and frank" discussions of the explosive oil crisis with the Iranian government.

U. S. Ambassador Henry F. Grady, who led conciliation efforts, hailed the move and said: "I am more hopeful than I have been for some time that a solution equitable and satisfactory to both sides will be found."

The company made its offer yesterday just 24 hours before expiration of the five-day period it had been given by the government to submit proposals on nationalization of the vast oil properties.

Deputy Premier Hussein Fattemi said Iran considered the AIOC's offer as "an acceptance of Iran's taking over" of the company's holdings. The company, on the other hand, said it was "reserving its legal rights" and did not specify the matters it was willing to negotiate.

Diplomatic informants in London said the offer did not change the British government's bid two weeks ago for high-level negotiations with the Iranian government. They also said that Britain's appeal to the International Court of Justice at The Hague to appoint an arbitrator still stood. The British government owns nearly 53 per cent of the company's stock.

BALTIMORE FIRE

Baltimore, June 4—(AP)—Loss of up to $400,000 in defense materials for the navy and atomic energy commission was feared today as a result of a five alarm fire. John H. Zink, Sr., owner of the Heat and Power Corp., said the work his company has had under defense contracts may be a total loss as a result of yesterday's blaze.

Ten Die in Crash Of Flying Box Car

New Boston, Tex., June 4—(AP)—An Air Force cargo plane, the C-82 "flying box car," blew up on the city yesterday, carrying 10 passengers to flaming death in a cow pasture.

"I saw it falling apart in the sky," said Mrs. C. W. Jones, on whose farm it fell.

Wreckage was strewn over an area of a mile and a half. Rescue crews were unable to remove the bodies from the burning fuselage for several hours.

Lt. J. M. Johnson, public information officer at Donaldson Air Force base in Greenville, S. C., said the C-82 was on a training mission from Greenville.

HOT BATTLE OVER FUTURE OF CONTROLS

Washington, June 4—(AP)—Big guns from every segment of American life today stepped up the free-for-all fight over the future of economic controls. They expire June 30 unless continued by congress.

The administration has asked for a two-year extension of the defense production act which covers the controls. Some congressmen share President Truman's view that parts of the act should be strengthened.

But other congressmen and some business organizations contend controls serve no useful purpose and should be discarded.

The cattleraisers are kicking up a row over a recent beef price rollback. Labor is protesting vigorously over the present wage-raising ceiling. Military leaders are concerned over the climbing costs of defense materials and services. Economic experts are fretting over the threat of inflation. The housewife with the market basket and the little guy with the pay envelope are worried about food prices and taxes.

Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) Union, said today his group is willing to accept wage stabilization but only "as part of a thoroughgoing program of equality of sacrifice."

"Equality of sacrifice requires that we reduce the standard of luxury of the few before we reduce the standard of living of the many," Reuther said in a statement prepared for the senate banking committee.

This committee and a similar one in the house are conducting hearings on the proposed extension of the defense production act. As the deadline nears there is talk of a stop-gap extension—without the broader powers asked by Mr. Truman.

Police Inspector In Philadelphia Takes His Own Life

Philadelphia, June 4—(AP)—Police inspector Warren W. Hobson, 59, shot and killed himself today in the basement of his West Philadelphia home.

Hobson was the second police inspector to commit suicide here in less than a year. Last Oct. 17 Inspector Craig D. Ellis, head of the vice squad, shot himself on a roadside near Media.

Det. Sgt. David Hemphill, who investigated Hobson's death, said a pistol was beside the body. There were no notes.

Hobson, a veteran of 24 years' service in the police bureau, appeared as a witness before the special grand jury investigating police graft six weeks ago.

Assistant District Attorney Victor H. Blanc, one of the officials in charge of the grand jury probe, said "there is nothing in the investigation to date which would indicate that there could be any connection between Inspector Hobson's suicide and the investigation."

Public Safety Director Samuel H. Rosenberg ordered a probe into the suicide. He said the death was a "shock."

Hobson's widow said her husband has been under medical treatment recently for a stomach ailment and a "nervous condition."

Two Face Charge "Resourceful Living" Theme Of Driving Auto While Intoxicated

Warren Borough police reported one accident and the arrest of two men on charges of drunken driving over the weekend. One of those arrested entered a plea of guilty when arraigned before Justice of the Peace Tracy M. Greenlund, police said.

Ralph Damon, of Johnstown, was arrested on Pennsylvania avenue, west, shortly before 8 p. m. Saturday, after a report came from police in Youngville that a motorist had struck three cars and had left in the direction of Warren. Damon entered a plea of guilty and waived hearing when arraigned before Justice Greenlund. He posted bail of $1000 for appearance at the next term of Quarter Sessions Court.

Leo Tremblay, 3 Hinkle street, was also charged by city police with drunken driving on Saturday. He will have a hearing before Justice Greenlund on Tuesday.

Cars operated by L. D. Porter, of Russell, R. D. 2, and Charles Michael, of Russell, collided at Pennsylvania and Hickory Saturday evening at 8:15 o'clock. No one was injured.

The police report stated that Porter was proceeding north on Hickory street and Michael south on Hickory. Michael was arrested on a charge of reckless driving.

ATTACKS ACHESON

Washington, June 4—(AP)—Sen. Martin (P-Pa) has called for the immediate dismissal of Dean Acheson and a "thorough housecleaning of the State Department."

Martin, in a prepared statement urged the ouster of Secretary Acheson on the grounds that the MacArthur firing inquiry has revealed the military policy of the nation is being formulated by the State Department instead of the joint chiefs of staff.

Weather Is Among Top Subjects in the News in Many Parts of Country Today

By The Associated Press
There's one thing that can be said about the weather today—no matter how bad it is where you are, it's probably worse some place else.

Take Tennessee, for instance. Bone-dry. Like most of the southern states from Arkansas to Florida and the Carolinas, it's in the seventh week of drought—the kind that scorches the earth and withers crops.

But over in the tri-state area of Wyoming, Colorado and Montana you'd need a good, warm woolen coat. Temperatures were in the 20s in many sections over the weekend, and in Colorado there was a one-foot snow fall that practically chased June right off the calendar.

As for rain, they had 6.1 inches of it in San Antonio. And in Nebraska, the folks were just getting set to pull themselves together after three days of torrential rain-falls.

Along the Atlantic coast, it was still hot, after four days, and temperatures were forecast in the 90s.

The east half of the country had cloudy to partly cloudy weather early today, while it was generally fair in the west half.

"Resourceful Living" Theme Of Inspiring Talk Delivered To Members of Senior Class

Parents and friends of Warren High School graduates of '51 filled First Presbyterian church to capacity Sunday evening for the traditional baccalaureate service arranged by the Warren County Ministerial Association.

Dr. Robert S. Steen, pastor of the host church and president of the ministerial group, gave the invocation and read the scripture lesson, and Dr. Arthur Colley, First Methodist minister, offered prayer.

Special musical numbers were the hymns, "Onward Christian Soldiers," "I Would Be True"; the anthem, "O Lord Most Holy" by Frank and "Holy, Holy, Holy" by Spicker, both sung by the High School A Cappella Choir, and the choral benediction, "The Lord Bless and Keep You" by Lutkin, also sung by the school chorists. Carol Amacher, Rebecca Keim and Sally Irvine were soloists in the first anthem; Aner Carlstrom in the second. Carroll Fowler, organist and director of the school choir, was at the organ for the prelude and processional airs.

In his baccalaureate sermon, "Resourceful Living," Rev. Nore G. Gustafson, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church, referred to the graduates as "one of the most important audiences it has ever been my privilege to address."

He pointed out that members of the class are the young people who, in a few years, "will occupy places of great importance in our economic, political, social, cultural, and religious life; who are to take over the management of our business, our schools, our homes, our churches, and our government."

Pastor Gustafson reminded the class that its members have studied and learned many things in their school days, acquiring knowledge that should be of great help to them. "But," he told them, "coupled with this knowledge must go a knowledge of God and our relation with Him. If you fail in this, we shall be afraid to turn over to you the management of our business, our schools, our homes, our churches, and our government."

The speaker related a number of apt illustrations to point out how God can be found, and how

"I want to speak to you of purposeful living," the speaker went on. "Our great need today is to know how life is to be lived; to know what a high and holy thing life can be. Life is something tremendous, it never was easy. Life is not simple and it is becoming more complex and more confusing every day. We must not be satisfied with just living—we must strive to live purposefully; to live abundantly."

"Life should be neither futile nor purposeless for any one of us. And it need not be. But our most fundamental need is confidence in the sanctity of life, the love of life, the joy of life. And this is the birthright of every one of us. But it must be sought. It must be striven for. It is not going to be handed to any one of us on a silver platter, and don't expect it."

Explaining how to attain this fundamental need, Mr. Gustafson told his audience: "Only as we find God, learn to know Him, and yield our lives to Him, shall we be successful in our search."

The speaker related a number of apt illustrations to point out how God can be found, and how

Diplomats From Nations Fighting In Korea Open Study on Chance For Peace

Washington, June 4—Diplomats from the nations fighting in Korea open a study here this week on the chances for a peace agreement but about all they have to go on is hope that the Communist aggressors now realize they can't win. There is no public sign of such a conclusion on the part of the Reds.

The talks probably will begin, at least in preliminary stages, tomorrow at a state department session of the 13-nation Korean policy conference. There will be another such regular session Friday. The meetings are routine for the representatives of nations fighting in the far east war.

Britain's Embassy, under instructions received from London last week, is the prime mover right now in the hunt for an avenue to peace, but the United States already was operating along that line when the British move came. It was learned that Assistant Secretary of State Dean Rusk, in charge of Far East affairs, recently invited the Korean Policy conference members to advance any ideas they have on how to take advantage of the current developments on the fighting front.

Those developments lie at the root of the whole move. Battle operations have arrayed the opposing armies again roughly along the 38th Parallel, old dividing line between Republican South Korea and Red-dominated North Korea. And the Communists who struck across that line last year have had convincing demonstrations that such a move is costly.

U. N. FORCES GRINDING OUT SMALL GAINS

Tokyo, June 4—(AP)—Allied troops fighting through driving rain toward the main Communist redoubt in North Korea beat off savage Red counterattacks today.

Artillery thundered over the sound of hand grenades as United Nations forces threw back the thrusts. Reds attacked all threatening U. N. spearheads. They fought stubbornly everywhere against the crunching Allied advance.

U. N. officers said the offensive appeared to be reaching the main Red defense line.

On the eastern front Chinese fought heavily constructed fortifications built by North Koreans in prewar days. Foliage had grown over them in natural camouflage. Chinese waited until advancing Americans came unknowingly within a few yards. Then they opened up.

Doughboys burned them out with flame throwers.

"You can't call this a delaying action any more," one high officer said. "The way the enemy is set and dug-in and shooting from well-prepared bunkers and the determination of his defenses shows we are really hitting a main line."

Small but sharp battles flared all along the saw-tooth front from newly captured Yonchon in the west to Kamsong in the east where Reds attacked the Allies' deepest penetration of North Korea.

Tank-led U. N. forces hacked out gains of one to three miles—in spots. In other places they stood still.

Allied gains were chipped out slowly in tough, often hand-to-hand fighting.

The Eighth Army was willing to pay the cost of taking the triangle of cities because:

1. The triangle dominates an important network of highways.

2. If masses of Allied tanks could reach Chonwon, they would find flat country, excellent for their type of fighting. In the flat triangle, Allied artillery would be more bloodily efficient than ever.

Summer rains which once threatened to bog down U. N. armor no longer were a bugaboo.

Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet, U. N. ground commander, made it clear his forces have no intention of stopping although the "pursuit phase" of their counteroffensive ended when the Reds escaped beyond encirclement.

His men, Van Fleet said, "will continue to destroy military targets in North Korea before they can be used in an aggressive mission against the Eighth Army."

CAPTAIN INJURED
Tokyo, June 4—(AP)—Capt. William D. Clark, son of Gen. Mark Clark, is recuperating in Tokyo General Hospital from a wound received in Korea. The second division veteran, whose father is commander of army field forces, was wounded in the knee.

The 12-man committee of which O'Connor is now a member meets once a month in Washington. It is the committee's job to iron out difficulties of woodworking companies engaged in the manufacturing of saved lumber, veneers and plywood.

O'Connor came to Sheffield in 1918 as a partner in the former Sheffield Tool and Supply Co. In 1925 it became the O'Connor Machine Co., with O'Connor as the owner. The company manufactures sawmill machinery, Earl H. Daniel, director of Prosthetic Services at the Bellevue Medical Center of New York University, brought to the staff of the Keystone Nursing Home, on May 31st, the latest technique in the third phase of medicine known as Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation.

Mr. Daniel was visiting his mother Mrs. N. U. Daniel at the Keystone Home and was kind enough to show a colored film depicting the various phases of rehabilitation as they are seen at the Institute of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation in New York City. The film showed the use of the popular government A. P. R. L. Mechanical Hook as well as molded plastic arms and new type suctional socket for artificial limbs.

In addition to his busy life of directing the prosthetic services in the medical center, Mr. Daniel found time to write a text on the subject of Amputee Prosthetic Service.

The Saturday Evening Post published an article in the April 14th issue entitled "The Cripples Walk Out" which gives a vivid description of the work done at the institute under the direction of Howard Rusk M. D. Mr. Daniel is pictured checking the activities of one of the patients about ready to leave the institute.

NO MORE PERMITS

for NEW Gas Heating Installations

Inability to obtain more Gas makes this action necessary

There's not enough gas (for heating purposes) available for all who want it. While the Gas Company has contracted for and is receiving large supplies of gas, it is impossible to contract for additional supplies at the present time because Southwestern pipe line owners find it impracticable to further expand their facilities for an indefinite period.

The present large supplies of gas will, of course, continue but the great number of new space heating customers added in the last few years will require every cubic foot—particularly during the peak load season. It would not be fair to them (or to new customers) to add additional consumption to a load which may (under the extremes of our winter weather) lead to shortages.

The above are the reasons why Pennsylvania Gas Company must take the action indicated in the headlines of this advertisement; however, applications for Gas heating will continue to be received—filed in date order and permits granted according to Tariff classifications should conditions permit.

All persons using Gas for Heating—without permits—are subject to loss of all Gas Service

"History of Warren County" Pageant to Be Highlight of Boy Scouts Campfire

On Friday evening, June 8, at 8:30 p. m., several troops of Boy Scouts will present a pageant entitled "A Brief History of Warren County." Byron W. Knapp is in charge of the program. This is a part of the Camporee being held at Wilder Field on Friday and Saturday.

The pageant will be the principal part of the Campfire ceremony which is a traditional Camporee highlight.

Those units participating in the pageant include: Troop 11 Lacy, PTA, Robert Shine, Scoutmaster, in charge of lighting the campfire using the Pioneer methods.

Troop No. 10 Holy Redeemer church, Frank Fago, scoutmaster; and Post No. 12, First Lutheran church, James Keller, advisor, will dramatize Celoron and his epoch-making voyage on the Conewango.

The first settlers of our county will be portrayed by the members of Troop No. 24, Youngville Methodist church, Bill Clark, scoutmaster. A brief glimpse at the glory that was lumber will be provided by the Scouts of Troop 31 of Youngville EUB church, Lewis Crippen, scoutmaster.

Oil which has played and still does a most important part in the economy as well as the history of the county will be characterized by a pantomime by Troop No. 23 Spring Creek, scoutmaster, Tom Felton.

Then, in order to bring it down to the present day, and also advertise the most important product of the county, a Court of Honor will be featured with present day Scouts receiving their awards. Council Advancement Chairman Wm. M. Hill will be in charge of this feature of the program.

As a fitting climax to the pageant, the Warren Boys Choir under the direction of Byron Swanson will render several numbers and then close with the entire group joining in "God Bless America."

Director Byron Knapp stressed the fact that this pageant is open to the public and particularly urges the attendance of parents and friends of Scouting.

Ludlow Speaker Is Former Resident Of the Community

Ludlow, June 1 — James Ober Post, American Legion, held its annual Memorial Day services in Gibbs Hill cemetery at 10:30 a. m. Wednesday, with a large attendance.

This is the first time the services have been held at this lovely little cemetery overlooking the surrounding area, instituting a plan of the Legion to alternate Memorial Day services between the two cemeteries. Lt. Arthur Christenson, Jr., killed in action in France in World War II, lies at rest in this cemetery.

The memorial speaker was the Rev. Robert E. Olson, Leechburg, former Ludlow boy and son of G. A. Olson. His stirring address was delivered nearby the grave of his VICTIMS OF THE HLC—Frankie Russo, 14-year-old Boston, Mass., newsboy, and his 125-pound St. Bernard dog were parted by the high cost of food. Frankie found the dog recently and brought it home as a pet. After his mother watched the dog gobble up five cans of dog food with no effort at all, she decreed he had to go. Here the St. Bernard tries to console heartbroken Frankie.

DRIVER-TRAINING PAYS OFF

Laments about the nation's motor traffic fatalities usually wind up with a spirited call for more driver education. It's hopeful, therefore, to be able to report genuine progress is being made toward that end.

The Association of Casualty and Surety Companies, which has played a big role in spurring driver education programs, recently summed up the cheerful evidence. The findings deal with high school students, since most programs are in that field.

In the current year nearly 750,000 students were enrolled in driver-training courses, similar to the one offered in the Warren schools. That's more than double the 330,000 who were enrolled four years ago. A total of 8845 schools are giving courses, a marked advance from the 7108 which offered such instruction last year. Since 1948 nearly 6000 schools have added driver-training to their curricula.

There is good news for those who may have despaired of seeing any solid hope of improvement in the traffic situation. The Association estimates that students trained in driving will have a three-to-one better chance of avoiding motor accidents than those who get no formal training.

But there are still some 11,500 schools with perhaps another 750,000 students that lack any kind of driver-training courses. So the room for expansion of these programs is ample.

What facts are there to support the view that driver-training really pays off? Naturally, since most of the programs are relatively new, comparative figures aren't numerous. But a few studies have been made.

In Delaware, the Motor Vehicle Department analyzed the driving records of 1600 licensed motorists, half with training and half without. The survey showed that of the 800 trained drivers, only 100 had either been arrested for traffic violations, involved in an accident, or warned by police officers. Of the 800 untrained drivers, 769, or 96 per cent, had some kind of black mark against them.

A later study covering 2200 drivers showed that 19.7 per cent of the 1100 trained ones had a violation, an accident or a warning, while 78.7 per cent of the 1100 untrained motorists fell into the same categories.

A Wisconsin survey disclosed that driver education reduced accidents per 1000 months of licensed driving by 58 per cent, and convictions for traffic violations by 59.4 per cent.

In Massachusetts, the number of driver education courses in 1941 was 48. By 1947 it had soared to 217. In that span, the number of accidents, involving youths of 16 and 17 dropped from 1203 to 642.

Massachusetts is now undertaking a new 10-year study of the value of driver education. On the basis of just six months' study, the state reports that untrained drivers had nine times the reportable violations that trained motorists did, and 10 times as many as those who had received both classroom instruction and practice driving.

These surveys suggest strongly that driver-training courses are one real answer to the frightening toll of traffic deaths and injuries. Let's hope the day is not far off when no school is without such training.

Hats off to the Russell Fire Department on the success of their "gala days" held Friday and Saturday, topped with a spectacular firemen's parade Saturday evening witnessed by one of the largest crowds ever to gather in the village. Between the celebration and participation in the hunt for the lost child at Cherry Grove, the boys had a busy weekend.

A profound and uplifting sermon that should prove a source of much encouragement and help to Warren High School seniors was delivered by the Rev. Nore Gustafson, of St. Paul's Lutheran church, at the annual baccalaureate exercises at the First Presbyterian Sunday evening.

As the last month of the life of the Defense Production Act opens, the struggle in Congress for and against a continuation of its control powers is becoming more intense.

Last few days of school are busy ones, especially for members of the Senior Class, who had the traditional busy weekend activities.

This Could Slow Up the General Considerably

Here And There

Over the Weekend: Russell Fair weather favored shoppers both Friday evening and Saturday afternoon. . . . Sleepy bunch of High School Seniors Saturday afternoon proved one of the most successful events ever attempted in the village, with the Saturday evening Firemen's Parade attracting several thousands to that place, and from the applause along the line of march everyone must have felt that it was thoroughly enjoyed. . . . Lane crews for utility companies had a busy weekend as a result of the damage caused by severe electric storms both Saturday and Sunday morning. . . . While some events scheduled were cancelled because of rain or wet grounds, the weather cleared intermittently so as not to interfere with many affairs including a number of early June weddings. . . . There's a bare possibility the Carl Ferris Shows may return to Warren for the Fourth of July week celebration. . . .

a virus infection. . . . Fanny Roden, one of the oldest members of Trinity Memorial Church Sunday school received the thirteenth bar on her award pin at the service yesterday, for perfect attendance, and this column along with her many friends, extend congratulations for such an unusual record. . . . That was a nice gesture on the part of Carl Ferris, of the Gibson Funeral Home as a show of the high regard in which he holds the memory of John McMenomin, St. Clair street, who died Saturday evening; Mr. McMenomin for years has been the local representative for the owners of the brewery show lot, and as such negotiated the rental of the property for tented attractions. Others rewarded for faithful attendance were Bob Kunzinger, 21 years; Mabel Crimmins, 13 years; and Mrs. Alice Heermans, 18 years.

This 'N That: Sportsmen's Clubs of the area are renewing the plea to fishermen and hikers to assist in taking care of the tiny fawns they run across while in the woods, reminding that the best thing to do when such a "foundling" is discovered is to move quietly away and allow the fawn to eventually return to its mother, and attention is also called to the fact that taking custody of a fawn is specifically forbidden by Section 10 of the Pennsylvania game law and bears a penalty of $100. . . . Citing the shortage of help as the principal reason, several retail gasoline dealers in Corry have announced a Sunday closing schedule, whereby all stations but two will be closed Sundays in June, July, August, September and October. . . . Plans are already under way for the annual Potato Festival to be held in Corry September 12-15, with the Youngville and Corry grid team meeting in the Potato Bowl as one of the major features of the event. . . . Many in Warren will be interested to learn that Agent Roy K. Moore, assistant to the Erie office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, will assume his new duties as assistant to the special agent in charge of the Wisconsin area in Milwaukee, June 15. . . . An outstanding example of community pride and interest in a local boy with talent and ambition to make good is offered at Sheffield where citizens have chartered a bus to carry residents of the area to Erie Tuesday evening to give encouragement and support to Jim (Turn to Page Seven)

Mexico Oil Nationalization Offers Guide to Iran Dispute

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Soon or later, the British and Iranian governments are going to have to start talking money to make a settlement for the proposed nationalization of the Iranian oil fields. Then is when the fun will really begin. It may take years to settle this thing, even as a straight business deal, without any war threat or Communist take-over complications.

To cite a parallel, the Mexican revolution and constitution of 1917 nationalized all sub-soil mineral rights. Seizure of the actual oil company properties did not begin, however, till March, 1938. It was 1945, however, before the Mexican government reached agreement with the last of the private, foreign oil companies.

The American companies settled first. They were Sinclair, Cities Service and the Standard group. They agreed to settle for a total of some $30 million. The big, final settlement was with Mexican Aguilera Oil Co., a Royal Dutch-British Shell subsidiary, which settled for around $120 million.

THE Iranians have said they don't want the oil for their own use. They will continue to supply the customers which have taken this oil in the past. Again they say this is not expropriation. There is a complicating factor in the fleet of 168 Anglo-Iranian-owned tankers plus 60 chartered tankers that carry the oil to markets in Europe and Asia. The Iranian government would no doubt like to take over this fleet, too, as part of the company's property. But there isn't much chance the company will allow the ships to fall into other hands.

There is considerable difference between the size of the Mexican and Iranian operations. Mexican production was around 190,000 barrels a day in 1920-25. It declined to 32,000 barrels a day in 1932. It is only since 1947 that Mexican production has risen to the 200,000-barrels-a-day level of this year. Oil men predict that if Iran does nationalize, the government will go through a slump just like Mexico did because the Iranians won't be able to operate the property at its present efficiency.

Iranian production is now over 700,000 barrels a day of crude, with 550,000 barrels a day of refined products at Abadan. Scheduling this production and marketing it is a tremendous job in itself. The Mexicans were fortunate in that they were able to hire foreign technicians. Anglo-Iranian has 77,000 employees. If the technicians were withdrawn production would stop.

ESTIMATES of value of the Iranian oil properties differ greatly. The Anglo-Iranian company is said to have invested over a billion dollars in the enterprise since 1901. How much of this should be written off as fully recovered is debatable. Some claims have been made that the book value of the company is only $60 million to $70 million.

How do you figure fair return on those price ranges? The 700,000-barrel-a-day output, incidentally, at $17.5 a barrel average price in Persian Gulf, is worth nearly a million and a quarter dollars a day. But there are a lot of special price customers, like the British navy. And some awfully fancy spreads. Production costs have been reported at one pound sterling per ton ($3 U. S. for 7 barrels). Sold at $15, the markup and profit are $12 a ton, or 400 per cent.

In 1939, the Iranian government got $37 million royalties. A new contract, refused by Iran, would have given the government $22 million on 25 million tons production, or over $90 million on this year's estimated production of 35 million tons.

How does anyone figure fair return for selling price on factors such as these, presented here in oversimplified form? And what would the Iranians use for money? Their proposal would presumably be that they give the British something like 25 per cent of the annual production, selling them the rest until the properties were paid for. Ownership of Anglo-Iranian Oil Company presents an even greater complication. The British government owns 56 per cent of the stock. Burma Oil Co., an old Scottish enterprise, owns 22 per cent. The rest is privately held.

MRS. ROBERT SMITH GIBB, JR.

Wearing white Chantilly lace and carrying a cascade arrangement of white roses, Jean MacLaren, younger granddaughter of Mrs. Grace T. Siggins, 4 Second avenue, became the bride on Saturday of Robert Smith Gibb, Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. R. S. Gibb, 14 Crescent Park.

The ceremony was performed at 4:30 p. m. in Trinity Memorial Episcopal church, the Rev. Beecher M. Rutledge officiating. Palms formed a pathway to the altar, which was decorated with white gladioli and flanked by lighted tapers in candelabra. Miss Jean Robertson was at the organ to play familiar bridal airs as guests assembled, also the traditional Wagner and Mendelssohn wedding marches.

Given in marriage by her brother, William B. MacLaren, the bride chose a princess gown with Peter Pan collar, long tapering sleeves, and train. Her veil fell fingertip length from a French cap edged with orange blossoms. Joan MacLaren was her sister's maid of honor and bridesmaids were Rachel Smith, Philadelphia; Toni Hamilton and Mrs. Robert G. Johnson; junior bridesmaids, Susan Siggins, Warren, and Sally Siggins, Sugar Grove, cousins of the bride. The first four wore strapless ballerina length dresses of white organdy under white dusters, with orange blossoms scattered over their caps of white net. The maid of honor carried Talisman roses in a cascade bouquet; the others, yellow roses. Gowns of the junior bridesmaids were also of white organdy, ballet length and with Peter Pan collars, worn over light blue, the white and blue theme repeated in floral headbands and colonial bouquets. Completing the bridal party David G. Hamilton was best man and the ushers were Allen M. Langhans, Jr., Jamestown, N. Y.; John Day, Corry; Robert Snowberger, Hagerstown, Md.; and David Gibb.

Mrs. Siggins chose for the wedding a frock of light blue chiffon, with which she wore navy accessories, and Mrs. Gibb wore chiffon in a cocoa brown shade, with matching accessories. Each had a white orchid corsage.

The reception followed immediately in Mrs. Siggins' home, the guest list of 200 including relatives and friends from New York City, Jamestown, N. Y.; Washington Court House, Columbus, O.; Hagerstown, Md.; Erie, Corry and Smethport.

The newly-married couple received in front of a fireplace banked with greens and white roses, with these flowers, white gladioli and blue delphinium continued throughout the home. Centering the bride's table, a five-tier wedding cake was topped with a nosegay of white roses and baby's breath.

Later, the couple left for a honeymoon at Saranac Inn on Saranac Lake, N. Y., the bride traveling in a two piece dress of blue and white silk, with white accessories.

Mrs. Gibb was graduated from Warren High School in 1947, attended Finch College, New York City, and was graduated from Harcum Junior College, Bryn Mawr. She has been employed in Warren National Bank and girls there gave a dinner party as one of the pre-nuptial affairs. Giving showers were Mrs. Robert G. Johnson; Mrs. Quay A. McCune; luncheon, Mrs. R. S. Gibb at the Woman's Club; Carolyn Huber, at her home; Rachel Smith, at the Woman's Club. The rehearsal dinner was given by Miss J. Mabel Siggins and Mrs. Sam G. Smith, at the home of the former.

Mr. Gibb was graduated from Mercerburg Academy in 1948 and is a senior at Franklin and Marshall College.

MR. AND MRS. DONALD E. MCKINNEY

Two well known Youngsville young people, Marilyn Loomis and Donald E. McKinney, were united in marriage at 7:30 p. m. Friday, June 1, in the Evangelical United Brethren church at that place, the Rev. Harold V. Lindquist officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Gleason Loomis, Youngsville, and Mrs. Mildred E. Ebel, Denver, Colo., while the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. John D. McKinney, Sligo.

White peonies and carnations were arranged with candelabra against a background of palms for the ceremony. Treva McKinney was at the organ for traditional wedding music and Lillian Swanson was accompanist for Byron Swanson, Warren, who sang "Through the Years," "O Promise Me" and "The Lord's Prayer." Escorted and given in marriage by her father, the bride wore Chantilly lace and satin, with train, and a veil of illusion net falling from a sweetheart head-dress trimmed with pearls. The satin bodice and long lace sleeves were appliqued with seed pearls to a yoke of nylon net, and the same lace was used in a scalloped tunic over the satin skirt. For her flowers, she carried white carnations centered with an orchid which she wore later for traveling.

As matron of honor Mr. McKinney's sister, Mrs. Marian McNaughton, wore yellow lace and net over satin, with picture frame hat, and carried light green carnations. The bridesmaids were Nancy Burleigh and Jeannine Williams, Youngsville; Betty Klenke, Pittsfield, and Ann Abraham, North Warren, all in Nile green. Their gowns were styled with lace bodice and net skirt over satin, picture frame hats were of matching color and bouquets were of yellow carnations. Sharon Deshner, Lancaster, as flower girl, wore white organdy over yellow taffeta and carried green carnations.

Karle McKinney, Saxonburg, was best man for his brother and ushers were Charles Reitz, Grove City; Don Galbraith, Brookville; Boggs Space and Don Stroup, Clarion.

The bride's mother wore a beige dress with lilac accessories and corsage of orchid mums and yellow roses. Mrs. McKinney wore navy with white and a corsage of white mums and roses.

A reception for 275 guests followed immediately at the National Forge clubhouse at Irvine, where the bride's table was laid with cloth of hand-crocheting and Battenberg lace, with white garlands and wedding bells decorating the room.

For a wedding trip to the Thousand Islands, the bride chose a pink suit and white accessories. After June 10, the couple will be at home to friends at 310 West Main street, Youngsville.

The bride, graduated from Youngsville High School in 1950 and Warren Conservatory of Music the same year, was formerly employed by the New Process Company.

Mr. McKinney, graduate of Sligo High in 1945 and of Pittsburgh Institute of Mortuary Science in 1948, is employed by Young Funeral Home, Youngsville. Honoring the bride-elect with parties have been Marian and Marjorie Jackson; Mary Klenke and Gertrude Loomis; and her bridesmaids.

You May Find New Happiness In a 'Family Night at Home'

THE city council of parents and teachers in our town is after us parents to observe a "family night at home." They've laid down a few rules and urge us all to follow them for one evening and see if we don't have a wonderful time.

We're not just to sit around and listen to the radio or indulge in such solitary pursuits as reading.

We're to do something together. Play a game the whole family can join in. Or take turns reading aloud. Or sit around a table making vacation plans. Or even to get out the old snapshot albums and relive the past a little.

It's not a bad idea—not a bad idea at all. The only thing wrong with it is that the P.-T.A. has to urge us to have family fun.

DOING THINGS TOGETHER IS IMPORTANT

WE ought all to be doing that anyway instead of shushing the kids while we read or listen to the radio night after night, or, if we're gadabouts, to leave them alone night after night with a sitter while we run off seeking our own adult type of enjoyment.

Or, as happens in many families, just to endure each other's company evening after evening—with everybody getting on everybody else's nerves—simply because nobody has the gumption to figure out that there should be some recreation the whole family can share.

We parents should remember from our own childhood that the happiest times were when the whole family was doing something together, even if it were a project that otherwise might have been labeled work.

Our memories, rather than the P.-T.A., should nudge us into giving family evenings a place in our social lives. And not just evenings when the family is all at home for want of something more exciting to do—but because the family can have a wonderful time together if someone takes the lead in thinking up things to do that are fun.

MENU SUGGESTIONS

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

POTATOES are good food. Use them liberally in your family menus—not only to keep costs under control, but to add nutrition and satisfaction to your menus. When cooked or served with dairy foods such as milk or butter, their value is enriched. Butter, remember, is a rich source of vitamin A, too often deficient in American diets.

Here are three special potato and butter combinations:

Potato Fieddy is an old Irish recipe that uses up leftover potatoes. Make seasoned boiled potatoes smoothly and knead in enough flour, one tablespoon at a time, to prevent sticking when rolled out. Roll out half an inch thick. Cut into squares with a knife, or rounds with a biscuit cutter. Brown in butter about 5 minutes on each side.

Potato Spills

(Serves 4)

Four large baking potatoes, ½ cup butter, ¼ cup milk, 1½ teaspoons salt, pepper.

Scrub potatoes clean and rub skins with butter. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for one hour. Cut potato lengthwise in halves, and scoop out inside. Mash potato, add butter, milk, salt and pepper. Whip and replace in shell. Brown in oven.

Variations:
Parsley Shells: Add ¼ cup chopped parsley, 4 tablespoons minced onion and 2 tablespoons chili sauce to filling.

Blushing Stuffing: Add 2 tablespoons finely grated raw beet and 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce to filling before replacing in shell.

Nutmeg Potatoes: Whip 1 teaspoon ground nutmeg into filling before replacing in shell.

Golden Potato Puff

(Serves 4-6)

Three cups hot mashed potatoes ¼ cup melted butter, 2 well-beaten egg yolks, 2 stiffly beaten egg whites.

Combine mashed potatoes with butter and egg yolks. Gently fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Place in a well-buttered baking dish individual muffin pans or custard cups. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) for 20 minutes, or until golden brown.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Rhubarb sauce, shredded wheat, bacon roll, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Creamed, sliced hard-cooked eggs with peas, watercress sandwiches, sliced oranges, tea, milk.

DINNER: Hamburger patties, golden potato puffs, buttered green beans, buttered soft rolls, sliced tomatoes and cucumbers, apple pie, coffee, milk.

Dorothy Mae Nelson-Robert Norman Gregersen Are Wed in Church Rite

Altar vases of white carnations with palms, and baskets of lily and spirea formed a simple setting in First Lutheran church Saturday evening for the wedding of Dorothy Mae Nelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Nelson, 554 Crestmont Park, and Robert Norman Gregersen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Niels Gregersen, 1 Liberty street.

The ceremony was performed at 7:30 o'clock by the Rev. Edward G. Rogers. 200,000 Jam Square For Beatification

Rome, June 4—(P)—More than 200,000 devout Catholics jammed St. Peter's Basilica and square yesterday for the beatification of Pope Pius X.

Pius X, who reigned from 1903 to 1914, was known in his life time as the "Papa Santo"—The Pope Saint. Beatification is the first step towards sainthood in the Roman Catholic ritual.

He is the first Pope to be beatified in 279 years and the eighth in the nearly 2000-year history of the Roman Catholic church.

During the ceremonies his preserved body, dressed in red and white pontifical robes, was exposed to the view of the faithful in a floodlit bronze and crystal casket. A silver mask, reproducing his features, covered the face.

Among those who viewed it were 20 cardinals, 200 bishops and archbishops and nearly all the diplomatic corps attached to the Vatican.

Seniors on Picnic Despite Weather

After cooperating with Warren High School seniors for three evenings in a row, the Weather Man seemed of two minds today concerning his conduct for the annual class picnic.

However, Principal Floyd Bathurst said the picnic "is on, rain or shine", and many carloads of merry-makers took off shortly after noon for Midway Park on Lake Chautauqua.

Despite severe electrical storms experienced Friday and Saturday evenings and rain again on Sunday, skies were clear in each instance for the junior-senior prom at the Marconi Outing Club on Friday, Class Night dinner and program at the YWCA Activities building Saturday, and the baccalaureate professional and service in First Presbyterian church Sunday.

Nothing special for the graduates is scheduled for Tuesday, the next big event to be Commencement exercises at the First Presbyterian church at 8 p. m. Wednesday.

Eight trucks caught fire near Greensburg yesterday while they were parked in a lot of the Lincoln Motor Sales Company which frequently repairs the Hartman trucks. Raymond C. Hensley, operator of a lunch stand at Lincoln Heights, said he heard the explosions and ran to the door in time to see an auto speeding from the scene.

Firemen from Jeannette and Grapewill brought the flames under control. At almost the same time firemen in Pittsburgh were called to the Hartman Company's loading dock where a trailer truck burst into flames. A fire smoldered in another truck.

CELEBRATION HIGHLIGHTS

—The Times-Mirror photographers caught these highlights of Russell Firemen's first annual two-day celebration: (1) Portion of the children's costume and pet parade Saturday afternoon;

(2) Pleasant Township Fire-fighters' version of the Dog-patch Smoke-eaters, a comic entry in the big firemen's parade Saturday night; (3) Petite drum majorette, something no parade is complete without at least one of; (4) Reluctant goat—the girl wants to parade, but the kid doesn't; (5) Water battle—there's a barrel on a high wire in the center of all the spray. The idea's to push the barrel along the wire; hosemen get a ducking.

ACTION ON THE TURN—Two cars on right take themselves out of action in the feature race at Dicky Ben Speedway yesterday, leaving Car 888 and Me-2 to battle it out for first place. Me-2, driven by Art Robbins, was the winner. (Phil Coyle Photo).

Daring Driver of Erie Is First in Sensational Race

Art Robbins, the racing dean of the stock cars, scored a sensational victory in the 25 lap feature held at the Dicky Ben Speedway on Sunday afternoon. It was the first time this year that Robbins has been able to keep his car from tipping over and it paid off for the Erie driver at the pay window.

Sixteen cars started the feature race but only four were able to finish the grueling grind. There were crashes all over the track which forced such star drivers as Carl Pintagro of Jamestown, Bob Thompson of Fredonia, Bob Allen of Erie, and Fred Retterer of Warren to the sidelines.

It was without a doubt the wildest racing feature of the year and afforded the fans with spine tingling action from the time Starter Shorty Pierce started them off until Robbins flashed by the finish line.

In the first event of Sunday's program, Dick Borland registered a close win with Bob Thompson running second, Jim Patrick of Erie, third, and Carl Pintagro, fourth.

Robbins topped the second heat with Bob Allen breathing down his neck. Allen then came back to take down the semi-final race with Thompson, second, and Pintagro third.

In the consolation race, Bob Frank sped to a half lap margin, and coasted in ahead of Fred Kohler of Bradford.

The finish of the feature race found three other Erie drivers taking down the top money after Robbins. Chet Dylewski, making his first start here, finished second.

Wallard Suffers Burns in Mishap At Reading Oval

Reading, June 4—(P)—Lee Wallard, winner of the 500 mile race at Indianapolis, returned to dirt track racing at Reading Fairgrounds and was burned badly by his first time out.

The 40-year old Altamont, N. Y., driver who buzzed ahead of the field on the brick track Memorial Day, finished a 15-mile race here yesterday but his car caught fire on the home stretch.

Wallard finished fourth in his first dirt track race this year. He wound up in Reading hospital in serious condition with severe burns of the arms and legs. He may be hospitalized for two months, the hospital reported.

Bill Schindler, Freeport, N. Y., had been flagged the winner of the 30-lap grind around the half mile oval when Wallard's car caught fire.

Wallard drove his blazing machine to the outside of the track and, 50 yards beyond the grandstand, leaped out with trousers and shirt blazing. Spectators and track officials smothered the flames.

Largest Field Set For USGA Tourney

New York, June 4—(P)—The largest field in the 51-year history of the United States Golf Association's championship teed off today in quest of 126 position in the title play at Oakland Hills Country Club, Birmingham, Mich., June 14-18.

The 1,481 professionals and amateurs who'll seek to qualify in 36-hole tests over 29 courses throughout the nation exceeds the previous record by 106.

In all, 162 will draw a starting time at Oakland Hills for the 72-hole championship but 36 of them are exempt from qualifying. These include all former Open champions, the 1950 U. S. and British amateur titleholders, the 1950 British Open king, the present holder of the American P. G. A. crown and the 20 low scores and ties in last year's Open.

Dick Chapman, who won the British Amateur last week is not automatically eligible under the rules but Frank Stranahan, the 1950 winner, passes muster. Johnny Goodman was the last amateur to win the Open. That was in 1933.

Ben Hogan, defending champion, heads the list of 11 former winners who'll pass up today's qualifying tests. The others are: Lloyd Mangrum, Cary Middlecoff, Gene Sarazen, Craig Wood, Lew Worsham, Lawson Little, Tony Manero, Sam Parks, Tommy Armour, and Billy Burke.

Bobby Locke qualifies as the present British Open champion and Sam Urzetta as the U. S. amateur winner of 1950. Locke arrived in New York yesterday and will warm up for the big event by playing the Goodall Round-Robin tournament starting Thursday at White Plains, N. Y.

The result is something new and startling in responsiveness . . . and in safety, too. You get quicker and smoother control of when and how you move than you have ever felt before.

New Champions Crowned in ABC

St. Paul, June 4—(P)—New champions reigned today in all five divisions of the 1951 American Bowling Congress tournament which finished its 58-day run Sunday.

Two new all-time tournament records were set.

Les Jougard of Detroit cracked the singles record with his title-winning 775, rolled on May 7. He also won the first annual ABC masters' invitational double elimination tourney against a field of 32.

Bob Benson and Eddie Marshall of Lansing, Mich., won the doubles title with a 1,334 total rolled April 15.

A teammate of Jougard, Tony Lindeman, captured the all-events crown with a 2,005 total rolled on May 6-7.

The C. B. O'Malley quint of Chicago captured the team title and top prize of $2,500 with a 3,070 total rolled on May 13. This was the best winning count since the 1942 tourney. The All-Burn Florists of Erie, were second with a 3,069 total. They won $1,800.

MIDDLE ATLANTIC

By The Associated Press

Niagara Falls is a game nearer the league-leading Erie sailors today after sweeping both ends of a doubleheader from Lockport game 3-2 while the sailors' Sunday game with tail-ender Oil City was rained out.

The New Castle Indians, meanwhile, collected 11 hits off two Butler hurlers to score a 10-2 win and stay close on the heels of Niagara Falls.

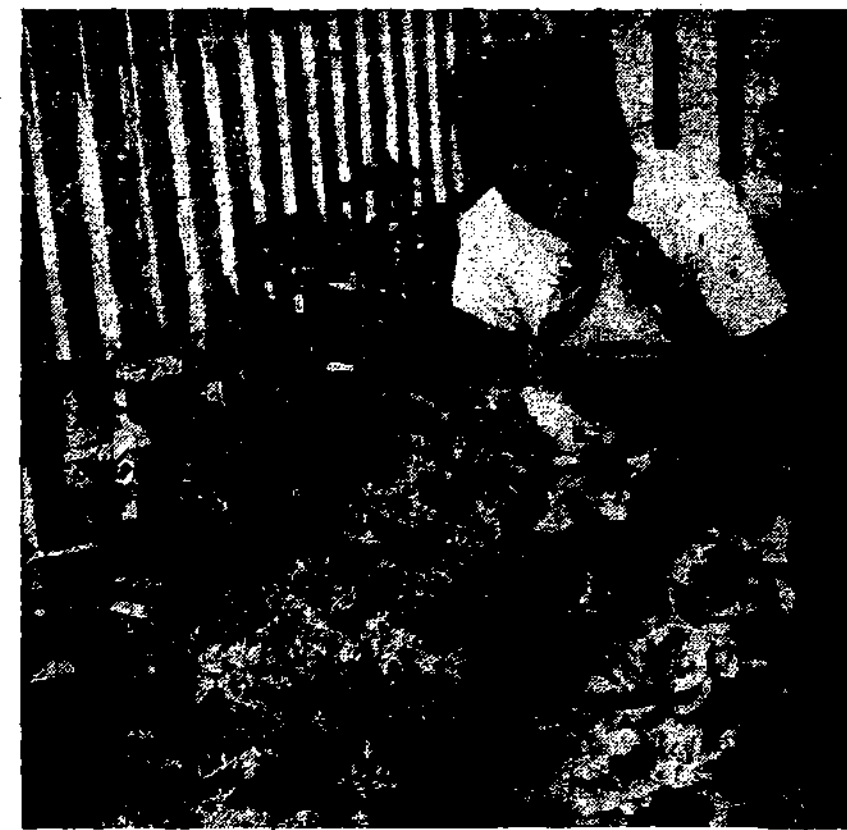

In the twin-bill with Lockport, Niagara Falls had two close squeaks. A fast double play with the bases loaded killed Lockport's ninth-inning rally in the opener, and second baseman Tony Fran broke up the nightcap with a bases-loaded single in the tenth inning to extend Niagara's winning streak to seven games.

Daily Salad Bowl from Home Garden Vitamin-rich

Earliest Loose Heading Lettuce Matures in 60 Days.

There is no better way to make sure your family has a daily dose of Vitamin A, calcium, and other nutritious ingredients which the "green, leafy" vegetables supply than by serving a daily bowl salad. Famous chefs pride themselves on their salads. One uncooked salad may be served every day at dinner with a great variety of nutritious ingredients produced in the Liberty garden.

Leaf lettuce is preferred by most chefs over head lettuce for salads. It is also far richer in vitamins. It comes in two types—the butter leaves, and the crisp leaves. The butter leaves are thicker, and darker green, with finer flavor, the experts say. Crisp leaves are lighter green in color, thin and somewhat brittle. Examples are Black Seeded Simpson, a butter type, and Grand Rapids, a crisp leaf type. Experts give first place in their esteem to the butter leaves.

Fast growing loose head varieties, such as Bibb lettuce are popular with many. Romaine or cos lettuce, which produces oval leaves, standing upright, is highly esteemed by French salad experts. It is a good late lettuce, standing heat better than the leaf varieties. The leaves can be bleached by tying them up as they near maturity, but this merely changes their color, and lessens their vitamin content.

For summer leaves, chicory, also known as endive, is more available than lettuce, which usually runs to seed in midsummer. Endive may be had with curly leaves, or broad leaves. Many like the curly leaves best for summer, and broad leaves (escarole) for fall, as they endure frost and become sweeter after the first frosts. Sow both types in drills, thin out to six or eight inches.

Leaf crops grown in a similar manner, and much esteemed in bowl salads, include corn salad, which is very hardy and can be harvested late in the fall; and upland garden cress, which gives a pungent flavor to the salad.

In the fall lettuce may be grown again; and the Chinese cabbage leaves are delicious. Chinese cabbage may be grown in the spring, with rich soil and an early start. But in midsummer, it always runs to seed. A late crop has no such tendency, and heads are easily produced in the fall, from plants started in late June.

All leaf crops demand rich soil. They must grow fast without check, otherwise the leaves are tough and have a bitter flavor. Plant food should be applied to the soil in which they grow at the rate of 4 pounds to 100 square feet.

CIRCLE IS HONORED AT WSCS DINNER

There was a large number present at the tureen dinner of the Grace church WSCS on Friday evening. The C. Lois Ray Circle was honored by the other circles of the society for having acquired the largest number of new members during the past six months. Attractive corsages of garden flowers were presented all new members in attendance.

Following the dinner, a short business session was held with devotions conducted by Miss Eugenia Price, and routine reports given by the various officers. Miss Edith Langdale gave a most interesting report of the sessions of the Annual Conference of the WSCS which was held recently in Jamestown, N. Y. Miss Langdale was the delegate from the Grace church WSCS.

After the close of the business session, Mrs. Norman Johnson introduced Mrs. E. H. Timmer of Salamanca, N. Y., who told about her work with the Navajo Indians in Arizona and New Mexico. Mrs. Timmer spent six years with the Navajo tribes and is now working with the Seneca Indians at Salamanca. Mr. Timmer, who accompanied his wife to the meeting at the Grace WSCS, showed some interesting colored slides of their various stations and the people in the area where they worked in Arizona and New Mexico, while Mrs. Timmer explained these pictures in detail. She invited those present to ask any questions which they might have about the Navajos and answered these very willingly.

Before the adjournment of the meeting, the ten new Circle Leaders were introduced and they read the names of the members of the new circles for the coming year.

CLASSIFIED ADS accepted until 11 a. m. on day of publication.

Tionesta Reports Storm Damage High

Tionesta, June 4 — A violent windstorm driving dust and sand before it came swirling up the Allegheny river at 1:55 p. m. Sunday. A half-hour later the young hurricane was over, leaving at least 100 uprooted trees and damaged property in its wake.

The part of Tionesta on the east bank was struck the hardest. Trees along the bank were leveled as with one blow. One of the largest was at least three feet in diameter and the dirt clump the roots brought up was 15 feet high. It was near the pottery on the north side.

Boats on the river made for safety as the black clouds loomed overhead. Pelting rain caught six girls in a large rubber boat just as they neared shore and they saw the remainder of the way, towing their craft.

Television aerials were flattened. Electric and telephone wires were torn down by falling limbs and trees.

Pleasant Township Firemen Grateful For Public Support

The Pleasant Township Volunteer Fire Department would like to thank the people of Warren and vicinity for their fine support of the Carl D. Ferris Shows that concluded its stay here Saturday evening.

Saturday afternoon the management of the carnival treated children from the Hoffman Home to free rides, popcorn and drinks. The children were transported to and from the carnival grounds through the courtesy of the Warren City Lines.

There will be no let-up in the work for the members of the Fire Department and the Ladies Auxiliary. Plans are going forward for the firemen's celebration to be held the week of July 9th. Many favorable replies have been received from other fire companies to participate in the firemen's parade to be held the evening of July 11th.

A king and queen will be chosen from the children of Pleasant township to be a part of the gala day and will be presented with several gifts. The feature of the midway will be the appearance of Eddie's Exposition Shows from Butler. This carnival has shown in Kane each summer for the past several years and promises to give the people of this section a fine number of rides and shows.

He is married and has a daughter, Marie, who is one year old.

A graduate of the Marquette University School of Medicine at Milwaukee, Wis., Dr. Wallick served an internship at the Scranton State Hospital, Scranton, and at the Kings County Hospital, Brooklyn, N.
